

Needed: Health Communication Student Interns
To address Cancer Awareness in Workplace Wellness Program

- * 6-10 hours/week (ish), would work pretty independently (not in our office all the time)
- * Start date: currently open for Fall Semester (may continue for Spring Semester)
- * Need assistance with the development of health communication material to target employees through our Body and Mind Employee Wellness Program.
  - Communication materials such as: brief educational flyers, 1-2 page health/wellness newsletters, stairwell posters, wellness campaign support materials, and employee wellness personal testimonials (via video or short feature stories).
  - Would include some development of original material (in collaboration with our Communications Specialist), and sorting through existing resources from our health/wellness vendors to identify appropriate material to fit within our strategic wellness plan.
  - Topics to include prevention, targeted health education on preventive health screenings, cancer awareness, blood pressure awareness, physical activity promotion, basic nutrition, mental health, and other.
  - May include assistance with maintaining social media and webpage content, in addition to helping to identify credible sources for video content on health-related topics.
